Text Messaging

The Business Challenge

How do you ensure messages are relayed swiftly to a mobile workforce so that they are acted upon quickly? You could use email - but the message may not be picked up in time. Or you could call each person's mobile phone - but that's expensive, time consuming and intrusive.

There is an alternative that is lower in cost and less intrusive than a mobile phone call and enables email-like messages to be immediately delivered to mobile phones.

The Solution

InterCall's unique Text Messaging service helps organisations keep in touch with their colleagues, clients and business partners by sending simple, low-cost text messages to their mobile phones from any web-enabled computer.
