Integrated with InterCall

Having my InterCall web and audio integrated into Huddle is exactly what we've been looking for. This blows all the other options out of the water.

National retailer

Reduced overheads

Huddle is central to our business and critical to the delivery of high-quality client service. It has significantly reduced resource overheads and enabled our teams to focus on value-adding work.

Recruitment firm

Reduced storage

It allows us to manage – from the very first brief right through to the final product packs – from one location. Is it not better that I, the client, house all the material rather than house it in seven different places throughout seven different agencies. With Huddle, we have a hosted system that allows us to house all of its artwork, images and video files on one platform, offering remote access to all stakeholders.

Food manufacturer

Helped winning new business

We use Huddle to differentiate ourselves from other agencies during the pitch process. We offer our prospects a fully branded client extranet, connecting all the relevant teams, files and discussions for no extra cost. It certainly helped us in demonstrating our reporting capabilities.
